TOPIC DESCRIPTIONS

LLC ENTITY STRUCTURING — 2 CPE
Do you experience the excited or unsure client who calls and asks about setting up an LLC or that their hairdresser told them they should have an LLC? How about that client that thinks an LLC is just an LLC? This class is for you! Do you really understand how to use an LLC? LLCs can be structured in so many ways, but are we really doing our clients justice with the way their LLCs are structured? Could there be a better way or different way to use an LLC? When is the time to change their tax election and how? This class explores the LLC and the best ways to structure them for your clients and help you bring out the best when doing tax planning.

CANNABIS BUSINESS—2 CPE
Owning a cannabis business is popular in states that have passed legislation for its recreational or medical use. However, there are a number of unique issues to these businesses, especially when preparing a tax return. This course will detail the differences among the various states that have legalized the industry. You will also review reporting requirements, potential differences between federal and state returns and restrictions on certain types of expenses. Finally, you will review how the changing state laws affect taxpayers; review disclosure issues and review potential penalties for participating in this type of activity.
ETHICS — NOT YOUR TYPICAL ETHICS CLASS—2 CPE
We sit through two required CPE hours of ethics every year, but this is not going to be your typical ethics class. This class will talk a little about Circular 230, but also includes due diligence requirements, IRS office requirements, office staff ethics, preparer penalties and real life situations that allow for open discussions about ethics and our requirements. This won’t be reading Circular 230 but instead we will be interacting with each other about how to make ethics a little more real in our practices.

ANNUAL TAX UPDATE—2 CPE
This session will explore revisions, clarifications and new information that you will need for the upcoming tax year. We will review recent tax legislation and apply information to clients’ returns and summarize new developments like the Taxpayer First Act, Section 199A and new forms that we expect to see.
